

Integrated Management System

The United Kingdom Accreditation Service (UKAS) certification for Integrated Management Systems (IMS) consists of a combination of two or more standards; ISO 9001, ISO 14001 and ISO 18001. Providing a framework for ensuring key processes are formalised and controlled, an Integrated Management System can deliver benefits such as reduced costs, increased levels of quality and productivity and improved levels of customer satisfaction, revenue and market share.

With a 100% success rate of approved accreditations, you can be assured of our extensive experience, knowledge and trusted approach. Combined with first class customer service, the IMS solution includes:

- Custom designed and implemented Integrated Management System (IMS) based on a minimum of two standards; ISO 9001, ISO 14001 and OHSAS 18001 H&S
- Organisation assessment and analysis, defining and documenting procedures to improve the consistency of output
- Development of your organisational framework to ensure that the Integrated Management System (IMS) delivers an improvement, meeting the requirement of the relevant standards
- Defining and documenting procedures, providing a platform for the development of the IMS, including training and documentation
- Extensive system audit and management review before the external certification body complete their assessment
